FRAUD PREVENTION TIPS

WHAT IS AN IT HELP-DESK OR COMPUTER REPAIR SCAM?

It's when someone poses as technical or customer support/service and convinces a "customer" to let them download remote access software on their PC to "fix" it. This can allow the fraudster to copy the victim's online credentials. A second phase could be an actual account takeover fraud where the fraudster logs in to a customer's bank account and completes a transaction.

Never sign in to an account using a link in an email or text. Once the fraudster steals your username, password, or other sensitive information, hackers can lock you out of your accounts, commit identity fraud, steal from you, and more. (Source: Aura)
